

THE PLANET OF THE DEAD

T S Eliott, the poet said that we are born into death Pure and innocent with no re-call of any prior contract with our Creator of all As a newborn we slowly awake sensing fear and trep-idation innately we feel and intuit what is at stake Being tiny and frail our environment speaks with vibrations abounding everything surrounding Quickly we learn to only repeat that which brings comfort and protection we seek Feelings direct us toward what is more safe and gradually erodes that which was innate Erosion is subtle so no one can see the emotional deadening of the baby
It all looks good to all the adults because they too are the victim of their early environments too So, we grow up maladapting to the people around and move on into adulthood all twisted and curled Adulthood is easy at first it does seem because all the programing is stuffed so deep in our heads all the shoulds and the oughts deeply engraved

Into our cognition so we know we are saved

However, God knocks later you see to help you remember that contract you see.

If you don't hear the first knock - it will continue

To haunt you and won't go away unless you drug or drink to drive it away

The pain continues to creep until you surrender or stay asleep

Come out of the slumber and feel the pain because

By doing so the outside falls off and Lo and Behold

You are getting closer to your soul

Yes the contract with God read on to say

You are here on earth not for a holiday

It is time you awaken and keep your deal

So when you come home you will have you will be deeper indeed

The darkness that earlier invaded your plight was planned by the creator so you could reach

Greater height

Lord Jesus expressed in simple words like this your job while you are down here is simply Know yourself and speak your truth, who ever have guessed that this inner journey would be such a lonely endeavor indeed

Because most humans ignore God's only plea

They seek money and power and believe that

Is the trip - later to find they that they made a Big slip To the Lord Money is Nothing in Heaven
